

U.S. STEEL MAY GET $34,000,000 IN COAL LANDS

Believed to Be Buyer in Deal Nearly Closed With J. V. Thompson.

LAST AVAILABLE FIELD IN PENNSYLVANIA

Negotiations have practically been completed between Joseph Van Kirk Thompson, president of the First National Bank of Uniontown, Pa., and persons believed to represent the allied interests of the United States Steel Corporation or Henry Clay Frick for the sale of the greater part of 200,000 acres of the richest coking coal lands in Greene county, Pennsylvania. The transaction will involve nearly $34,000,000. According to authoritative information received by THE SUN the deal is complete with the exception of the drawing up of the necessary legal documents. It is known that Mr. Thompson left for Uniontown last night in a very pleasant frame of mind.

Mr. Thompson would not say with whom the negotiations had been conducted. Neither would he deny that the other interests represented in the transactions were James V. Reed, a director of the United States Steel Corporation; A. C. Dinkley, president of the Carnegie Steel Company; H. C. McDowell, president of the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh, and representatives of Henry Clay Frick.

Judge Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the Steel Corporation, said last night that his company was not interested in the deal. Inquiries at the home of Henry Clay Frick failed to reveal whether he was in New York city or in Pittsburgh.

Last Available Field.

The coking coal lands of Mr. Thompson and his associates, which are numerous in the southwestern corner of Greene county, Pennsylvania, and are the only coking coal fields left in the State, facing on the Monongahela River. Every other field in that part of the State has been taken up by such companies as the Crucible Steel Company, the Pittsburgh Steel Company, the Henry Clay Frick Coal and Coke Company, the Uniontown Tube Company and several other of the most important subsidiaries of the United States Steel Corporation.

The greatest value of these coal lands lies in the fact that they produce exclusively coking coal, the sort used by the Steel Corporation in its furnaces and without which it is impossible to manufacture certain of the highest grades of steel. The coking coal fields in this country are limited.

In speaking of the transaction Mr. Thompson said: "The lands which are included in this transaction lie directly opposite the famous Fayette county coal lands, which are among the richest in the country. The Fayette lands are largely held by the United States Steel Corporation, Henry Clay Frick and other prominent steel interests and are being mined at a rate of fifty-five acres per day or 16,500 acres per year. In ten years practically all of the 165,000 acres available in Fayette county will have been mined and the steel corporation will be forced to seek new Pennsylvania fields. None in that State are richer or more adjacent to their plants than the Greene county fields which are owned by myself and my associates. The coal vein formation in Greene county is much the same as that in Fayette county, namely that it lies in veins of from seven to nine feet in depth."

Entire Field Worth $80,000,000.

The entire coking coal holdings of Mr. Thompson and his associates in Greene county aggregate over 200,000 acres and are valued at $80,000,000. They extend from the southwestern part of the county directly across the middle of it and touch the northwestern boundary line. They lie directly between the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers, the latter of which is the largest of the industrial steel companies in this country and the greater part of them are especially accessible, lying as they do along the Monongahela River.

Other extensive holdings which lie along the boundaries of the Thompson fields are in the hands of the Pickands-Mather Company, the William K. Shaw estate, the William J. Rainey estate and the Emerald Coal and Coke Company. Several of these holdings were purchased from Mr. Thompson in former times. Among the first to recognize the value of these coking coal lands was the late John W. Gates, and he at one time purchased a considerable tract of Mr. Thompson's.

MRS. CARMAN UNDECIDED.

Counsel Says It Is Not Settled as to Asking for New Trial.

FOREPORT, L. I., Jan. 9.—While Mrs. Florence A. Carman still insists that she wants to be tried again on the indictment charging her with the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey last summer her lawyer, George M. Levy, said today that no move for a retrial was contemplated.

"Speaking for Mrs. Carman personally," he said, "I can say that she has not been satisfied with the outcome of the case—the disagreement of the jury—and wants another chance to prove her innocence. But whether we shall ask for another trial I cannot say now."

To Monopolize Wheat Import.

PARIS, Jan. 9.—The Havas Agency's correspondent at Bern says the Swiss Government has decided to make the importation of wheat a Government monopoly during the war.

GIRL JUMPS INTO ICY BAY BUT POLICE SAVE HER

Wild Leap From Staten Island Ferry, Daring Rescue and Woods Bossing the Heroes of the Force Will Delight San Francisco Fair Visitors.

Miss Jeanette Ehrman and snapshot of her jump from a ferryboat.

A girl jumped into the bitter cold water of New York harbor yesterday afternoon, an ex-policeman jumped in and swam to her rescue, several hundred men on the Staten Island ferryboat Manhattan cheered as he caught her in his arms and Police Commissioner Arthur Woods directed the saving of both from the police boat Patrol.

All this was timed by the Vitaphone Company of America for the New York Police Department, which will show the motion pictures at the exposition in San Francisco to illustrate one phase of police work here.

That is what happened, in matter of fact form, but some of the high lights of the afternoon will not be communicated by any mere sight of the pictures. The sensation of Miss Jeanette Ehrman of 565 Neptune avenue, Coney Island, who jumped overboard, the rapid oscillations of Miss Ehrman's mother between breathless anxiety and good humored relief, the swift methods of Capt. Harry Lambert of the Vitaphone staff in staging the "rescue" and the sight of the Patrol boat Myers telling the crew of the Patrol how not to behave for the movies—those were not recorded as Tom Malloy, Arthur Ross and Archie Stewart turned the crank.

The Patrol set out from Pier A at the Battery just before 2 o'clock with Commissioner Woods aboard and the picture makers divided between her and the municipal ferryboat. Victor Smith represented the Vitaphone Company and Walter Arthur was head camera man. George Ridgwell was assistant director. Dock Commissioner R. A. C. Smith was on the Manhattan inspecting it for the picture's sake.

Behind the Patrol streamed a half dozen or more police launches. When the police boat got pretty well up to the Liberty Statue the ferryboat Manhattan appeared.

MURDERED BY ESKIMOS FOR STRIKING A GUIDE

Papers Filed in Surrogate's Court Tell How H. V. Radford Met Death.

Details of the dramatic death of Harry Vincent Radford, a member of the American Geographical Society and the Arctic Club, and of his companion, T. George Street of Ottawa, Canada, at the hands of Canadian Eskimos while on an exploration trip were set forth yesterday in the Surrogate's Court. The records were filed there for the purpose of establishing proof of Radford's death in order that his will might be admitted to probate.

The petitioners for the probate of Radford's will and the distribution of his estate were his aunt, Mrs. Fanny R. Leland of Bryn Mawr, Pa., and Joseph B. Edwards, a great-uncle, of 15 Riverside Drive. Radford and Street were killed in 1912, and when no word came from them thereafter there was much speculation as to their fate. The papers filed yesterday show the roundabout way in which the news reached the Canadian Government.

H. H. Hall, factor of the Hudson's Bay Company's post at Churchill, Manitoba, sent on to headquarters a report he got from G. R. Ray, factor of the Nelson River district. The information got through in July, 1913, when Hall had been requested to make an investigation. He got it from Akul-Lak, an Eskimo guide.

The story of Akul-Lak shows that the death of the two explorers was due to Radford's impulsiveness in striking an Eskimo who had promised to guide him. Akul-Lak said he got his information from a party of Eskimos at Bathurst Inlet, where the murder of the explorers occurred.

An interesting feature of the report is that the Eskimo who was struck by Radford backed out because his wife objected to his going on a trip that would take him so far from home. While Radford and his guide were fighting another guide stabbed the explorer in the back. Street then attempted to reach his skin, but was pursued and that Mr. Radford fought pluckily, even after he had been stabbed several times.

J. K. Hackett Buys $100,000 Home.

JAMES K. HACKETT has invested about $100,000 of the $1,200,000 he has come to him a few weeks ago by inheritance from the estate of his niece, Mrs. Minnie Hackett Trowbridge, in a residence at 55 West Seventy-first street, a four-story and basement dwelling, once the property of Dr. W. E. Woodend. Mr. Hackett bought it from the Yorkville Realty Company. The house is well furnished and Mr. Hackett will make it his home.

SALESWOMAN HITS AT WAGER REFORMERS

Tells Factory Investigators Girls Resent Imputations of Sociologists.

LIVELY TILTS AT HEARING

There were some tilts yesterday between witnesses and women in the audience at the hearing by the State Factory Investigating Commission in the Hall of Records on the question of legislation for a minimum wage scale for women and minors. The hearings were adjourned to January 22, when one of the witnesses will be Louis D. Brandeis, chairman of the joint arbitration board of the Clockmakers Union and the manufacturers.

The first tilt occurred when Mrs. Maude Flowerston, a prosperous looking woman, took the stand. She was dressed in expensive furs, carried a cane and caused a stir when she appeared. She began by complaining of the interference of reformers in the relations between employers and employees and after announcing that she represented the highest class of saleswomen said:

"Believe me, the better class of saleswomen, because of the criticism of them, resent all this talk about immorality and all that sort of thing by the so-called reformers, economists and sociologists, who talk at random without knowing the facts."

She then gave a list of stores in which she said the girls are overworked and underpaid, but that did not justify the reflections on shopgirls. She did not believe in a minimum wage. It would throw one-third of the girls into the street.

Mrs. Frederick Maude Nathan, president of the New York Consumers League, demanded to know why the minimum wage would throw one-third of the girls into the street. "Because," said Mrs. Flowerston, "one-third of them at 6 a week or so are stock girls and would be driven out."

A number of the girls in the room bristled up at this and more questions were asked. She stood to her guns, however.

The first witness in the forenoon was Miss Helen Marc, former president of the Women's Trade Union League. She did not believe in a minimum wage scale for women. Sociologists, she said, knew well that with a minimum wage employers would pay due to the union. She believed in the organization of women, which was largely increasing, as the best means of keeping up a circle of water. Remember this is serious business. So they all frowned.

It might have been serious enough, at that. The Patrol circled the Manhattan ferryboat lay to, while Capt. Lambert figured out the best way to get his picture. When the police launches had swept clear of tugs a circle of water a quarter mile across a cry came from the Manhattan, answering the flag tied to his cane, which Capt. Lambert waved.

In an empty space on the ferryboat's lower deck, a woman could not be seen struggling to free herself from a man. She broke away, ran to the edge, hesitated for one thrilling second and then jumped away out, feet first.

As she sank in a big frothing splash the hundreds on both decks of the ferryboat rushed to the stern and leaned far over the rail, on tiptoe, with distorted faces, the women wringing their hands.

Two of the Manhattan's crew cleared a lifeboat instantly and lowered it into the water. Jumping in this lifeboat at the same time Harrison C. Rhodes of 796 Putnam avenue, Brooklyn, who used to be "on the force," jumped overboard from the Patrol.

Rhodes in the water was unable for a time to see Miss Ehrman and swam away from her. Many voices shrieking from both craft warned him "To the right!" and checking himself he turned in good time, not more than a minute or two having been wasted.

Still it seemed as if that minute or two might have grave consequences. It was not long, however, until Rhodes overtook Miss Ehrman and clamping her, swam toward the Patrol. Meanwhile the girl's mother had one awful moment of fright.

BRANDEIS ARGUES FOR A PRICE FIXING LAW

House Committee Members Not Much Impressed by Bostonian's Words.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Louis D. Brandeis of Boston appeared today before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce in advocacy of a bill introduced by Representative Stevens of New Hampshire to permit manufacturers of standard articles to fix the price at which their articles must be sold by the retailer. This legislation, Mr. Brandeis said, was necessary because of the United States Supreme Court's decision that it was contrary to the public policy and a restraint of trade to permit manufacturers of such articles to fix prices.

Mr. Brandeis argued that the decision "was inadvertent" and "by a vote of 5 to 4"; that every manufacturer had a right to fix the prices of his articles, and that except for this decision the right would still exist. Mr. Brandeis said that he appeared as a "representative of the public." The measure is also urged by the American Fair Trade League of New York. A majority of the committee appeared to be in which the news reached the Canadian Government.

"Every instinct of a gentleman," said Mr. Brandeis, "and every instinct of common decency is against cutthroat competition. It is a non thing for a manufacturer to lower the price of a staple article in one community and maintain it in others."

"What effect will this proposed measure have on the cost of living?" Mr. Brandeis was asked.

"Practically none," he responded. "It looks to me," commented Representative Adamson, "that your bill ought to be entitled 'an act to compel profits for the middleman.'"

The right of a manufacturer to fix the price of his product is recognized in Massachusetts and in other States and in practically every State which has legislated on this subject," said Mr. Brandeis.

DR. HILLIS UPSET IN DRIFT.

Canceled Western Trip Following Sleighting Accident.

The Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis of the Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, has been forced to cancel a number of speaking engagements in the West because of injuries received in an accident near Bedford, Pa., three weeks ago. He will be able to speak today at his own church, however.

Dr. Hillis is suffering from sciatica in the left leg and his left shoulder is badly crippled from a fall while driving through the country. His carriage was upset in a snow drift and he was thrown to the road. At the time his train had been held up by an accident and he was trying to reach Bedford in time to keep an engagement to speak.

SUFFRAGISTS SURE OF 67 HOUSE VOTES

Balloting on Tuesday Will Crown 60 Years of Work for Movement.

EXPECT BOOM TO RESULT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Next Tuesday promises to be a historic day in the annals of the suffrage movement in the United States. The suffragists then for the first time in the sixty years of their campaign will have succeeded in injecting their proposal for a Federal amendment enfranchising their sex into a set debate in the House of Representatives.

Whether they win or lose they seem inclined to regard the affair as significant. They have had their amendment debated in the Senate and voted down, but this will be the first time they have ever succeeded in forcing the House to a roll call upon their proposal after trying for forty-nine years.

Two factors were of great assistance to the suffragists. One was that the Western half of the country is now "suffrage" and that the suffrage States have sixty-seven members of the lower house. This is far from being the two-thirds majority necessary to pass a proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution, but it is enough to make the issue political rather than academic. The second was the pressure which the National American Woman Suffrage Association has brought to bear upon the House.

This pressure has been directed for the last two years by Ruth Hanna McCormick, daughter of the late Mark Hanna, who has been serving as chairman of the Congressional committee of the association with permanent headquarters in Washington. She has appealed to the Assembly in the various districts until, bit by bit, she has forced the issue into the open. Nobody knows how many votes the amendment will command next Tuesday, but they will be hand picked, every one.

Women Working for Amendment.

The committee is made up of women who are giving practically their entire time to the task. In addition to Mrs. McCormick, it includes Mrs. Antoinette Funk, vice-chairman, a Chicago lawyer, and one of the members of the "Big Four," which pushed the presidential suffrage bill through the Illinois General Assembly. Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill., another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs. Helen Gardner of Washington; Miss Ethel M. Smith, formerly editor of the publications of the Bureau of Fisheries; Mrs. Laura Puffer Morgan; Mrs. Sherman M. Booth of Gloucester, Ill.; another member of that quartet; Miss Jeannette Rankin of Montana, who as State president won that State to suffrage; Mrs